

Faculty Lecturer Visiting

Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies - Pennsylvania-Pittsburgh - (23000145)

The Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies Program at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for the immediate fulfillment of a full-time Visiting Lecturer position in feminist and LGBTQ studies with expertise in women's issues in the Middle East, for a one-year period, January 1, 2023 through December 31, 2023. The course load is 3-3, and the position is outside the tenure track. Note that this year classes begin on January 9, 2023. Salary and benefits are competitive.

Minimum Qualifications: PhD in Gender Studies, Sociology, or a related field. Expertise in women's issues in the Middle East as demonstrated by papers, curriculum, and/or editorial responsibilities.

Applications should include:

1. Cover letter of 1-2 pages, addressed to Laura Lovett, Director of the Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies Program.
2. Current CV, including a list of courses taught and schools at which they were taught.
3. Diversity Statement of 1-2 pages, in which you share how your past, planned, or potential contributions or experiences relating to diversity, equity, and inclusion will advance the University of Pittsburgh's commitment to inclusive excellence.
4. Contact information (full name, title, and email) for three persons able to provide confidential professional letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to our Program Coordinator at gsws@pitt.edu.
