Instructional Professor in the Social Sciences Core - Social Science Inquiry (Open Rank)

The University of Chicago: The College: Social Sciences Collegiate Division

Location

Chicago, IL

Open Date

Oct 17, 2023

Description

The Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a full-time Instructional Professor who will teach in the Social Sciences Core sequence Social Science Inquiry (General). The emphasis in the General Social Science Inquiry Sequence is on questions of research design (with special attention to causal inference, through both experimental and observational approaches), statistical analysis, and presentation. The appointment is renewable, with an initial term of at least three years, beginning September 1, 2024. Appointment at the rank of Assistant, Associate, and full Instructional Professor will be considered based on the candidate's experience. More information about the Social Sciences Core can be viewed in the College's online catalog: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/socialsciences/> (<http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/socialsciences/>).

The Instructional Professor will teach six quarter-length courses each academic year (typically 2-2-2) in the Social Sciences Collegiate Division, primarily in the Social Science Inquiry sequence. In addition to teaching, the Instructional Professor will contribute to the ongoing development of the Core's curriculum. The successful candidate will be required to participate actively in weekly staff meetings, attend other course-related events, and hold regular office hours.

Qualifications

The position requires a Ph.D. in a social science with a specialization in quantitative research and a demonstrated record of teaching experience.
